Miss Ardelle Williams, one of the young hostesses at a recent social affair.

A DELIGHTFUL affair of yesterday was the luncheon and bridge party given at the University club by Mrs. George W. Putnam and Mrs. Charles W. Boyd. The affair was held for sixteen guests and was a beautiful success. After the luncheon was served the company motored to the Boyd home, where four tables of bridge were enjoyed. The party was given in honor of Mrs. Paul Burke of Los Angeles, who has been the honored guest at numerous affairs during her visit to the city. The other friends present were Mrs. Murray Sullivan, Mrs. Clarence Vinton, Mrs. N. N. Mayo, Mrs. H. C. Edwards, Mrs. W. T. Benson, Mrs. George Cushing, Mrs. J. T. Richards, Mrs. Harry Knight, Mrs. Sherman, Mrs. Marion, Mrs. George W. Putnam, Mrs. M. E. Lipman and Mrs. Frank Roberts.

The first of a series of monthly ladies' nights at the Officers' club, which have been arranged by the board of directors of the club, was enjoyed last evening when the officers and ladies of the club gathered at the club to enjoy an evening together. Mrs. Joseph Jones was the special guest of the evening, and was especially honored. The affair was arranged in order that the newcomers especially may meet the friends in the past. Some informal music, cards and visiting filled the early evening, and later a buffet supper was served.

A beautiful reception was given last evening at the Deke Walton home by Mr. and Mrs. Reuel Walton (Miss Lawrence Lewis of Evanston) and Mrs. Reuel Walton (Miss Leonard of Chicago). The home was beautifully decorated with palms and ferns and many flowers, and a splendid orchestra furnished a good musical program through the evening. Receiving with the young people were Mr. and Mrs. Reuel Walton, Miss Agnes Ryan, Mrs. Nan Walton, Miss Blanche Ryan, Miss Ruth Cox, and in the dining room were Misses Ely and Blanche Walton, Alfred Knox and Grace Stanley. Both the brides were dressed in white. Mrs. Reuel Walton wearing a handsome gown of white, orange, and blue, and Mrs. Nan Walton a magnificent gown of broad satin trimmed with chiffon and pearls. All four of the young people left for an extended trip through California.

Mrs. W. A. Rutan entertained a few friends yesterday afternoon at a game of bridge. The players enjoying the game, and a few more friends coming in later in the afternoon.

Mrs. Kenneth C. Kern is here from Seattle, having accompanied the body of her grandmother, Mrs. Jane M. Young, for burial. She is at the Young home, Red Butte hollow for a stay of a few days only.

The meeting of the Hospital Aid society, which was set for today, has been postponed for one week, and will be held the fifth Wednesday in the month at the Young Woman's Christian association rooms, at the usual hour.

The Clefian will meet this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Nephil L. Morris, 751 First North street. Miss Alice will present the topic, which is "The Beginning of the House of Hapsburg."

Miss Emma Lucy Gates and her party will sail today on the Mauretania from New York. In the party are, besides Mrs. Gates, her father, Jacob F. Gates, her sister, Mrs. R. M. Hyde and Miss Norma Hyde, who joined the Utah party in Reno.

Miss Bonnie Miller left yesterday for Union City in the northern part of Idaho, where she will spend the next four weeks as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Edwards, enjoying the winter sports at that region.

H. H. Hays of Yellowstone park fame in the city for a few days on his way to a visit with his mother in San Diego to his place of business in Chicago.

The Girls' Friendly society will give a dancing party in Whitney hall on Wednesday evening, January 29.

GEORGE WASHINGTON BY WOODROW WILSON

THE STORY OF THE FIRST PRESIDENT BY THE PRESIDENT-ELECT.

British Ministers Decide That a Revenue Must Be Raised in America and Parliament Votes a Duty on Wines and Sugar—No Outbreak of Resistance Follows, But the Law is Practically Ignored by the Colonists—The Attempt to Tax the Colonies Meets With Little Success.

IT WAS hardly an opportune time for statesmen in London to make a new and larger place for England's authority in America, and yet that was what they immediately attempted.

Safe children and Burke and a few discerning men who had neither power nor power, there was no longer any one in England who knew, though it were never so vaguely, the real temper and character of the colonists. "Twas matter of common knowledge and common comment," it is true, that men of Massachusetts were beyond all reason impatient of command or restraint, affecting an independence which was hardly to be distinguished from contumacious and insubordination; but what ground was there to suppose that a like haughty and ungovernable spirit lurked in the jovial and quiet South, or among the prudent traders and phlegmatic farmers who were making the middle colonies so rich, and so regardless of themselves in every point of gain or interest?

"HANDS OFF," THE BRITISH POLICY.

Statements of an older generation and had a sure instinct what must be the feeling of Englishmen in America, and had, with "a wise and salutary neglect," suffered them to take their own way in every matter of self-government.

Though ministry after ministry had asserted a rigorous and exacting supremacy for the mother country in every affair of commerce, and had determined as they pleased what the colonies should be suffered to manufacture, and how they should be allowed to trade—with what merchants, within what limits—they had never less withheld their hands, hitherto from all direct exercise of authority in the handling of the internal affairs of the several settlements, had given them leave always to originate their own legislation and their own measures of finance until a self-government had become with them a thing as if of immemorial privilege.

A SHREWD STATESMAN.

Sir William Keith, sometime Governor of Pennsylvania, had suggested to Sir Robert Walpole that he should raise revenue from the colonies. "What?" exclaimed that shrewd master of men. "I have Old England set against me, and do you think I will have New England likewise?"

But men had come into authority in

Write an Essay and Win an Award

THE TRIBUNE invites every young person, not more than 17 years of age, to participate in an essay competition. In this, prizes (complete list to be announced in a few days) for students in the public and high schools of city and this and neighboring states, will be awarded for the best three hundred-word essays on "Washington as Woodrow Wilson Sees Him."

Compositions must be original (not excerpts) based upon, not rewritten from, the articles now running daily in The Tribune, and the fifteenth installment of which appears on this page. Write the Woodrow Wilson Editor for the first four installments; these will be sent free. The essays can be written with pen and ink, pencil, or typewritten; one side of the paper, only, must be used, and at least one half-inch of margin left on top, bottom and both sides. Enclose with your manuscript a separate sheet with only your name, age, address and school on it.

All essays will be submitted to a committee of well-known men and women, who will judge and decide the winners upon:

- A—Originality of composition;
- B—Clearness of expression;
- C—Neatness;
- D—Grammatical construction;
- E—General merit.

All manuscripts and communications must be addressed to Woodrow Wilson Essay Editor, Salt Lake Tribune, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Compositions received or mailed before midnight February 22nd (Washington's birthday) will be accepted and considered, and the announcement of winners will be in The Tribune March 4th (Inaugural day).

Rheumatic Pains

are quickly relieved by an application of Sloan's Liniment. It's very penetrating, goes straight to the sore spot.

HERE'S PROOF
Miss ELAINE MANTHEY, 4229 Talman Ave., Chicago, Ill., writes: "About two years ago my mother broke down with rheumatism. The doctors didn't do any good. My mother was persuaded to try Sloan's Liniment, and in three weeks was entirely well—and I believe she is cured forever."
Mrs. A. W. WIDMAN, of 405 E. Thompson St., Maryville, Mo., writes: "The nerve in my leg was destroyed five years ago and left me with a jerking at night so that I could not sleep. A friend told me to try your liniment and now I could not do without it. I find after its use I can go to sleep."

SLOAN'S LINIMENT

is an excellent remedy for sprains, bruises, sore throat, asthma, neuralgia, lumbago, lame muscles and stiff joints.

At all dealers. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00.

CROSS OR FEVERISH, HALF-SICK CHILDREN

If Tongue is Coated, Breath Bad, Stomach Sour, It Means a Torpid Liver and Clogged Bowels.

Mother! Don't scold your cross, peevish child! Look at the tongue! See if it is white, yellow and coated! If your child is listless, drooping, isn't sleeping well, is restless, doesn't eat heartily or is cross, irritable, out of sorts with everybody, stomach sour, feverish, breath bad, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, or is full of cold, it means the little one's stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with poisons and foul constipated waste matter and need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

Give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs, and in a few hours all the clogged up waste undigested food and sour bile will gently move on and out of its little bowels are filled with poisons and foul constipated waste matter and need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

Give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs, and in a few hours all the clogged up waste undigested food and sour bile will gently move on and out of its little bowels are filled with poisons and foul constipated waste matter and need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

for if they should direct it to be done by act of parliament, which they have threatened to do (though it be against the right of Englishmen to be taxed but by their representatives), yet they would find it no easier matter to put such an act in execution.

No observing man could so much as travel in Virginia without finding very promptly what it was that gave point and poignancy to such an opinion.

A LEVEL-HEADED PARSON.

That quiet gentleman the Rev. Andrew Burnaby, vicar of Greenwich, was in Virginia in 1759, and saw plainly enough how matters stood. "The public or political character of the Virginians," he said, "corresponds with their private one; they are haughty and jealous of their liberties, impatient of restraint, and can scarcely bear the thought of being controlled by any superior power. Many of them consider the colonies as independent states, not connected with Great Britain otherwise than by having the same common king and being bound to her with natural affection. Not only so, but 'they think it a hardship not to have an unlimited trade to every part of the world.'"

All this, and more, Grenville might have learned by the simple pains of inquiry. One had but to open his eyes and look to see how imperious a race had been bred in the almost boundless south, and for all they had never heard revolutionary talk thence, ministers ought to have dreamed the leisure men had there to think the provocation to be proud, the necessity to be masterful and individual, quite as much as they had ever dreamed the stubborn temper and the quick capacity for united action they had once and again seen excited in New England.

LAW A DEAD LETTER.

It was not necessary to try new laws to see what the colonies would do if provoked. The difficulty already encountered in enforcing the laws of trade was of less consequence, and the trouble in that matter had grown worse but yesterday. For long, indeed, no one in the colonies questioned the right of parliament to regulate their trade; but it was notorious that the laws actually enforced in that matter had gone smoothly off in America only because they were not seriously enforced.

"The trade hither is engrossed by the Saints of New England," laughed Colonel Byrd, "who carry off a great deal of trade without troubling themselves with paying that impudent duty of a penny a pound."

YELLOWSTONE PARK IN WINTER ON SKEES

H. H. Hays, general agent of the Wythe Permanent Camping company, is in Salt Lake City after a trip to the Pacific coast. During his absence he has been from Vancouver to San Diego and he said yesterday that he had booked a party for the Yellowstone park from every city of any size all along the Pacific coast. When seen yesterday, Mr. Hays was enthusiastic about the number who are going to see the Yellowstone park next season.

"We have our new quarters fully equipped," said Mr. Hays yesterday, "and are just waiting for the snow to go off so that we can start on the season's work in view of the fact that the park will be crowded all season. It may be necessary to organize skating parties so that some of the visitors can go there in the winter. I went through the park on skis once and it is a trip that I shall not soon forget. However, no arrangements have been made for such a party and this season, and we shall try to get all of our passengers there during the open season."

Mr. Hays yesterday received a copy of the annual report of the acting superintendent of the Yellowstone park for 1912. The report, which is made to the secretary of the interior, contains much valuable information. It shows that during the year 22,500 persons visited the park, of whom 10,154 entered through the western entrance at Yellowstone, Mont. In addition to a map of the park, the report contains an account of the wild and domestic animals in the park, the roads, trails and improvements, and instructions and rules regarding fishing, forest fires, telephone lines, sanitation and travel.

Escaped After Fifteen Years.

W. P. Broyles made a successful escape after fifteen years of suffering from kidney and bladder troubles. Foley Kidney Pills released him and will do just the same for others. He says: "They cured a most severe backache with painful bladder irregularities, and they do all you claim for them." Refuse substitutes. UNKNOWN CHILD IS BASIS OF LAW SUIT

Marie F. Martin brought suit in the district court yesterday against the Utah Light & Railway company to collect $10,000 damages for the death of a child that never was born. Mrs. Martin alleges that through the negligence of the company's street car crew, she was hurled violently to the street as she was about to alight from a car on West Second South street.

TAXATION COMMISSION COMPLETES ITS REPORT

The report of the commissioners on revenue and taxation, which was summarized in the Tribune of October 11, 1912, has been filed with the secretary of state. The commission was appointed two years ago and submitted its findings to Governor Spay in October.

Try This Home-Made Cough Remedy

Costs Little, But Does the Work Quickly, or Money Refunded.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (city cents) worth in a pint bottle, then add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three times a day.

You will find that this simple remedy takes hold of a cough more quickly than anything else you ever used. Usually ends a deep seated cough inside of 24 hours. Splendid, too, for whooping cough, chest pains, bronchitis and other throat troubles. It stimulates the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

This recipe makes more and better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly and tastes pleasantly.

Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and all the natural pine elements which are so healing to the membranes.

This plan of making cough syrup with Pinex and Sugar Syrup or strained honey, has proven so popular throughout the United States and Canada that it is often imitated. But the old, successful formula has never been equaled.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.
